Truth

This parody is the first of a series that may or may not transpire.
Like most, maybe
all, this author has a fistful of questions and few answers.

For millions, maybe billions, truth is the holy grail of their incarnation on planet Earth. This book aims to offer a droplet contribution into a field that is as vast as the universe itself.

This text contains six main sections. This segment provides historical context that underpins analysis chapters.

The second part analyzes control of the body and the third explores control over the mind. The following section examines non bodily factors of individuals: personal identities, social group memberships and private property.

The fourth chapter titled 'Tempo' centers around time and the ways that it may bind people into a matrix of madness.

Concluding discussion makes a brief effort to forecast short term trends in the fate of humanity, based on current trajectories and this author's personal perceptions.

Tether

This book centers around a mathematical principle labelled 'matrices'. This author, whose memory is about as tough as a tungsten trap, vividly recalls studying matrices at high school in the 1980s. Students in the class asked our teachers to offer real-life applications. They couldn't. I recall asking a mathematics teacher in 2014 who teaches pre university matriculation level math at a private school. He is a smart fox with a Masters in pure math. He couldn't offer an application. He seemed to try and make out he could. I can sniff bamboozle manure miles away.

Perhaps there are real-life applications for matrices. Just as there are real-life purposes for Sine, Cosine and Tangent. In 1986, I memorized that Sine equals opposite over hypotenuse. I earned credit for this rote fact in grades 9 to 11. Thirty plus years later, I have absolutely no idea how or why this meaningless fact (or fabrication) can improve the quality of my life or others.

A great deal of what we are forced to learn at school, work and society are enslavement rituals that aim to trap us into a set of meaningless matrices. Automatic rules that reward us with credit and penalties drive this system. Most men who refuse to choke themselves with a functionless necktie, symbolic bondage, will never rise the corporate slavery ladder. The same system controls ambitious corporate women who must wear makeup and execute their role as docile dolly birds.

May this book offer one or more ideas that can empower you to escape this gulag matrix. This prison planet ultimately serves to benefit the 0.001% such as inbred royals and fake apex clergy who use our taxes and donations to live trillionaire lifestyles behind their childish velvet curtains.

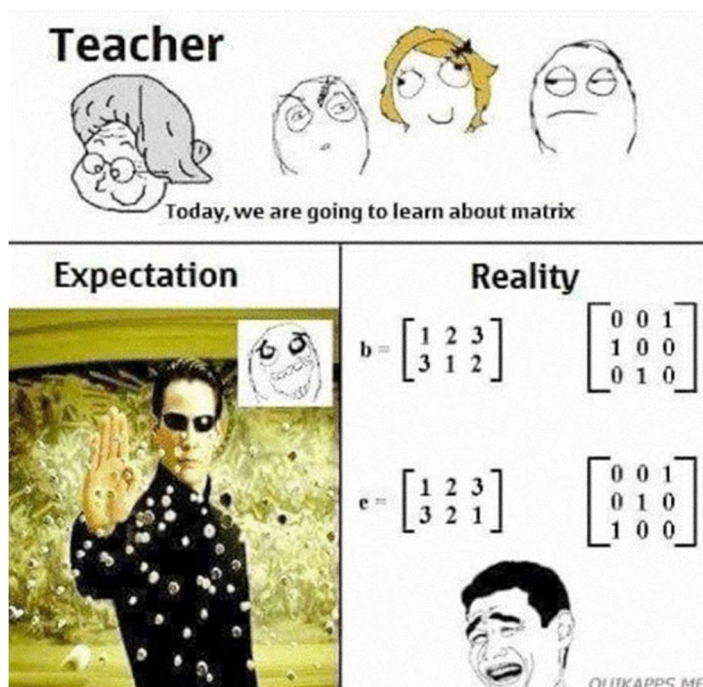

This rudimentary meme offers a simple example of how an addition matrix works. This simple example is the extent of mathematical analysis in this book.

First matrix is : $\begin{bmatrix} 7 & 2 \\ 5 & 3 \end{bmatrix}$ + Second matrix $\begin{bmatrix} 2 & 1 \\ 3 & 1 \end{bmatrix}$ = The sum of the two matrices $\begin{bmatrix} 9 & 3 \\ 8 & 4 \end{bmatrix}$

Green annotations: $7 + 2 = 9$ and $3 + 1 = 4$

Java (2019)

The premise and title of this book is partially inspired by the famous Hollywood film 'The Matrix'.

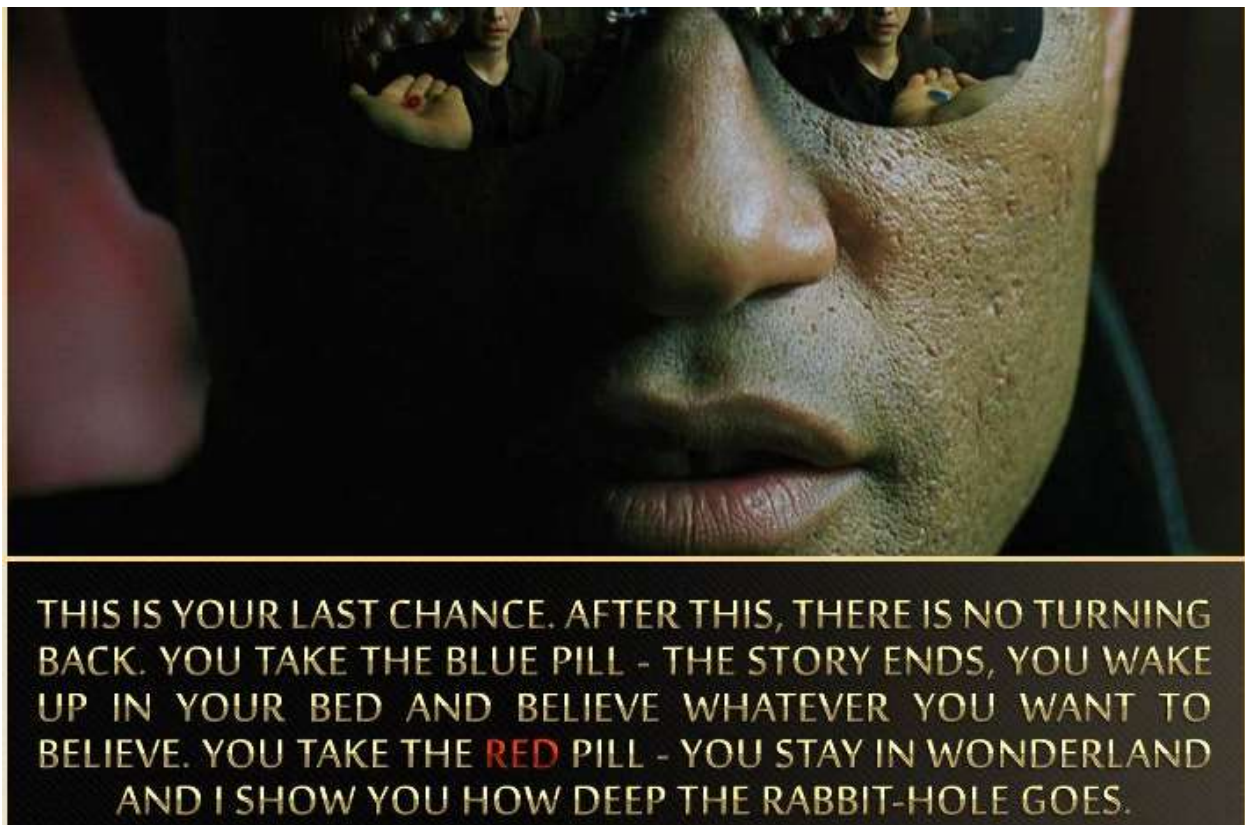

Many of the ideas and critical observations contained in this book existed in the mind of this author more than a decade prior to the global release of this film in 1999.

Might students learn more truth at school if culturally influencing movies such as The Matrix were mostly used to explain how this world functions in place of rote tools such as matrices?

The Matrix

The impact of this Hollywood movie is probably among the top 1% of cultural influencer films of the past quarter century. It was produced by globalist syndicate Warner Bros. This causes this author to question the motives of this movie. These scripts are never random. Never. What is its covert purpose? Disclosure, disinformation, dread distribution, a mix thereof, or something else? Many interpret this movie as a chronicle of the invisible, ruthless prison planet known as Earth.

QP (2019)

This script's claim that AI eat babies may explain the controversiality of certain social issues in America. 'Choosing the red pill' and 'going down rabbit holes' has become a mainstream idiom in Americanized English. It is suggestive of voluntary action to waken one's self to the shocking truths of Earth's global network of control, with no option to return back to blissful ignorance.

101 ways that globalists depopulate and enslave humanity

Jericho (2019a)

This book is not recommended for kids and those who don't like horror stories.

Towers

This book assumes that a matrix slave hell gulag system controls this planet. This assumption is deeply embedded within half a dozen open-access books that this author has published in the past 12 months. The cover page of one of these free books appears on the prior page (page 5).

I strongly encourage readers with free beautiful minds to contest every claim made in this book. This includes issues such as the quality of discussion and the relevance of examples cited.

It is immensely difficult to understand how to escape a matrix of madness if you cannot see it and understand how it works. Decoding this system, if it exists in your reality, may take hundreds of hours or more of reading, observing, reflection and interpretation. This may transpire over weeks, months, years, decades or never.

This book is the concluding volume in this author's open-access critical thinking series. Readers may gain the best returns from this text if they consult prior publications in this series. You may download these free digital documents at the webpage shown on the footers of this book.

The premise of this series is that little, if anything that we see on the surface in the world of geopolitics is real. Virtually all so-called world 'leaders' are thespians with absolutely no power whatsoever. Most Prime Ministers and Presidents are hand selected behind the satin curtain prior to the rigged make-believe poll. Democratic elections are a farce. Nowadays, national elections are determined in Rome, London, Beijing or Moscow long before the first ballot is cast.

This explains how unpopular dictators such as Angela Merkel (nee Hitler) win elections years after most registered voters have decided that they can no longer stand the incessant lies and treachery of these grotesque globalist puppets who serve royals. Inbred world followers are farmed like test tube corn. They are groomed as Head of States as seedlings. Can you recall a failed two term family dynasty President of recent decades who was as sharp as a bowling ball?

Perpetual inbreeding within Nazi bloodline dynasties consolidates family power for all clans.

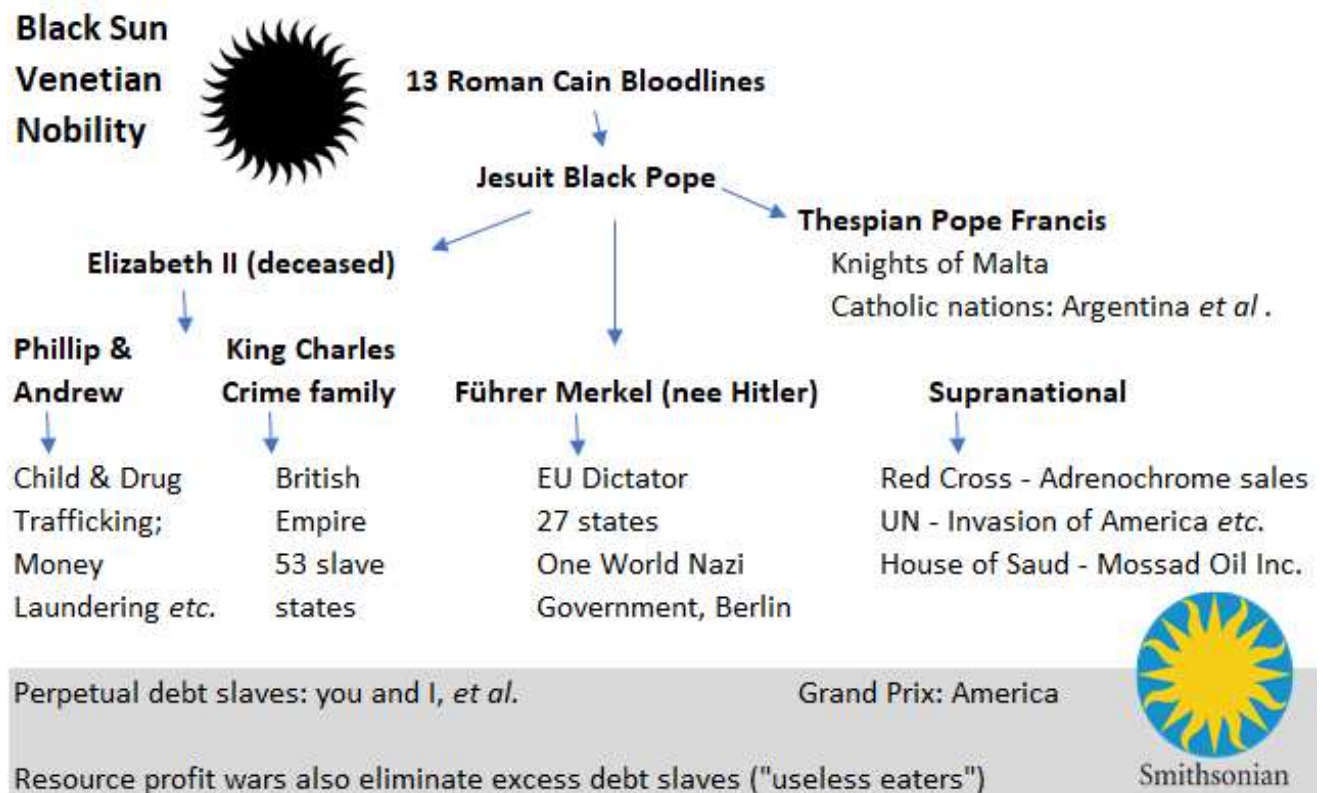

“My official daddy was a Prime Minister.” “Sweet corn. I will hand our Presidency to Uncle Raúl”.

Upon learning of the death of Fidel Castro, Prime Minister Justin Trudeau issued the following statement:

“It is with deep sorrow that I learned today of the death of Cuba’s longest serving President. Fidel Castro was a larger than life leader who served his people for almost half a century. A legendary revolutionary and orator, Mr. Castro made significant improvements to the education and healthcare of his island nation. While a controversial figure, both Mr. Castro’s supporters and detractors recognized his tremendous dedication and love for the Cuban people who had a deep and lasting affection for “el Comandante”. I know my father was very proud to call him a friend and I had the

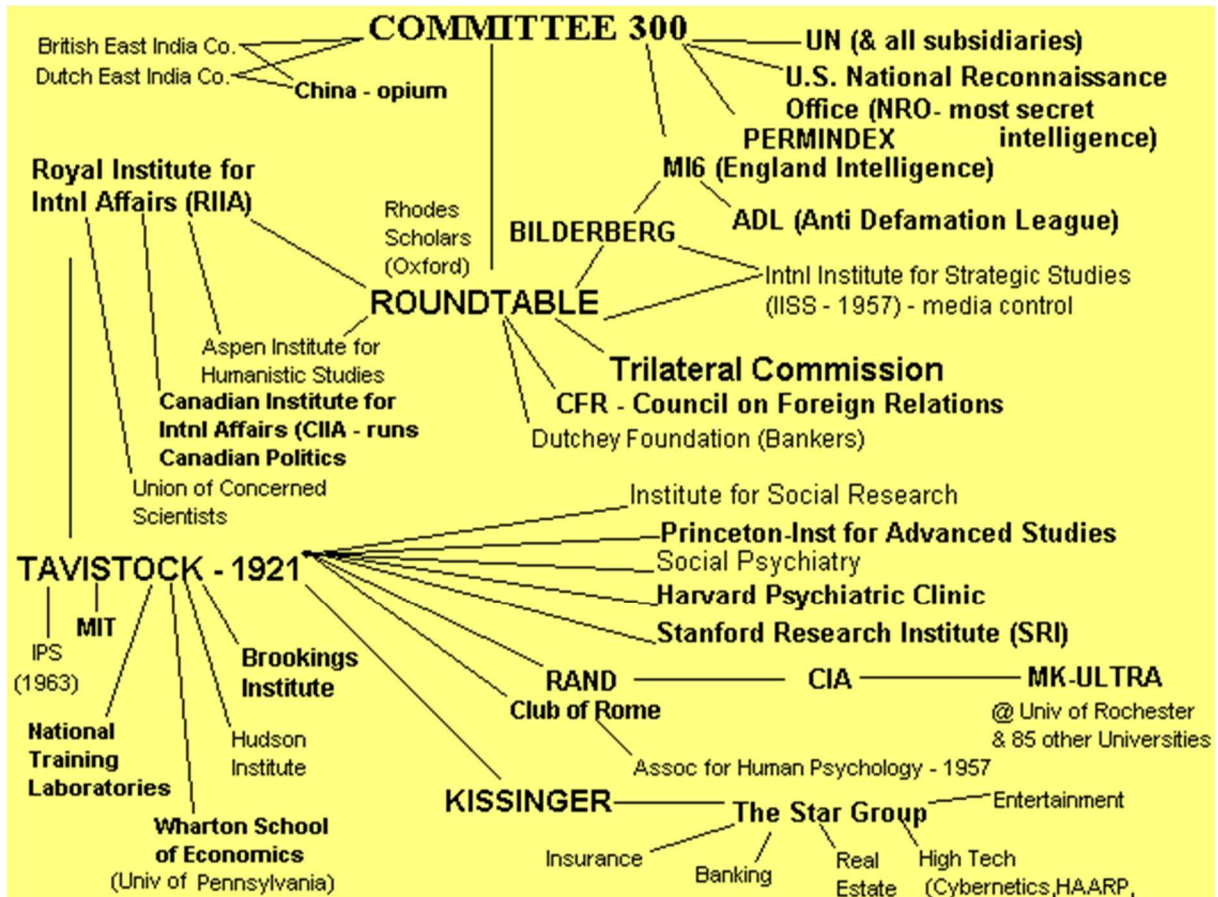

This diagram aims to summarize the crumbling Western order of power as at December 2019.

This mention of the West, above, underpins the choice of the plural word matrices to outline this book. This author theorizes that there are different realities within overlapping Eastern and Western spheres. Those unhappy with the Western reality may 'flee' to the East. America is an example of a 'classic' Western model. Communist China, which doesn't guarantee free speech, is a classic example of an Eastern nation. Japan is a crossover country. We are still trapped under the same Earthly dome. Switching from East to West is comparable to switching from prison cell Block A to cell Block H. Cell Block A doesn't permit outdoor exercise. It allows prisoners to purchase marijuana. Block H offers daily outdoor exercise periods and marijuana is banned.

Maybe there is another option. Escape the East-West matrices and create a new reality.

This murderous cartel on the prior page diagram delegate their dirty deeds to the infamous Committee 300. Junior royals, religions and state sponsored institutes dominate this slave matrix.

(Coleman, 2006)

Do you think that some people who experience high freedom may navigate strategies to engage with these agencies on their own terms? Consider roles of staff, clients and other stakeholders.

What do you think about the notion that some people freely join a known corrupt institution with the hope that they may reform this institution as an insider?

Must one ban and/or boycott all enslaving agencies in order to achieve full personal freedom?

The table-diagram overleaf is a summary of the main tools used by this Western-centric Deep State crime syndicate to enslave and depopulate the middle- and working-class masses. This book's index section maps several of these terms to one or more pages in this book. This author prefers readers to consult a range of quality sources to form their own definition of terms that they do not understand. You may write to this author for assistance locating an example.

The Global Network of Control are like toilet cockroaches - they thrive in the dark.

As shown on the diagram on the prior page, electronic, televised and digital communications are the most efficient way of controlling the masses via mind-control brainwashing. For example, it is cheaper, faster and often more effective to inform people to switch off their air-conditioners via a televised commercial that pleads using logic and reason during a massive fire. This volunteer action may prevent the meltdown of the power grid. The alternative – bribery and military force are more time-consuming and expensive. This is a benign example – if the plea is honest.

Many organized faiths strongly encourage members to ban televisions in the home. They advise their flock to be selective about what movies and TV shows they watch. Many Hollywood movies scheme to brainwash audiences to act and think in a way that replicates a sinister control matrix.

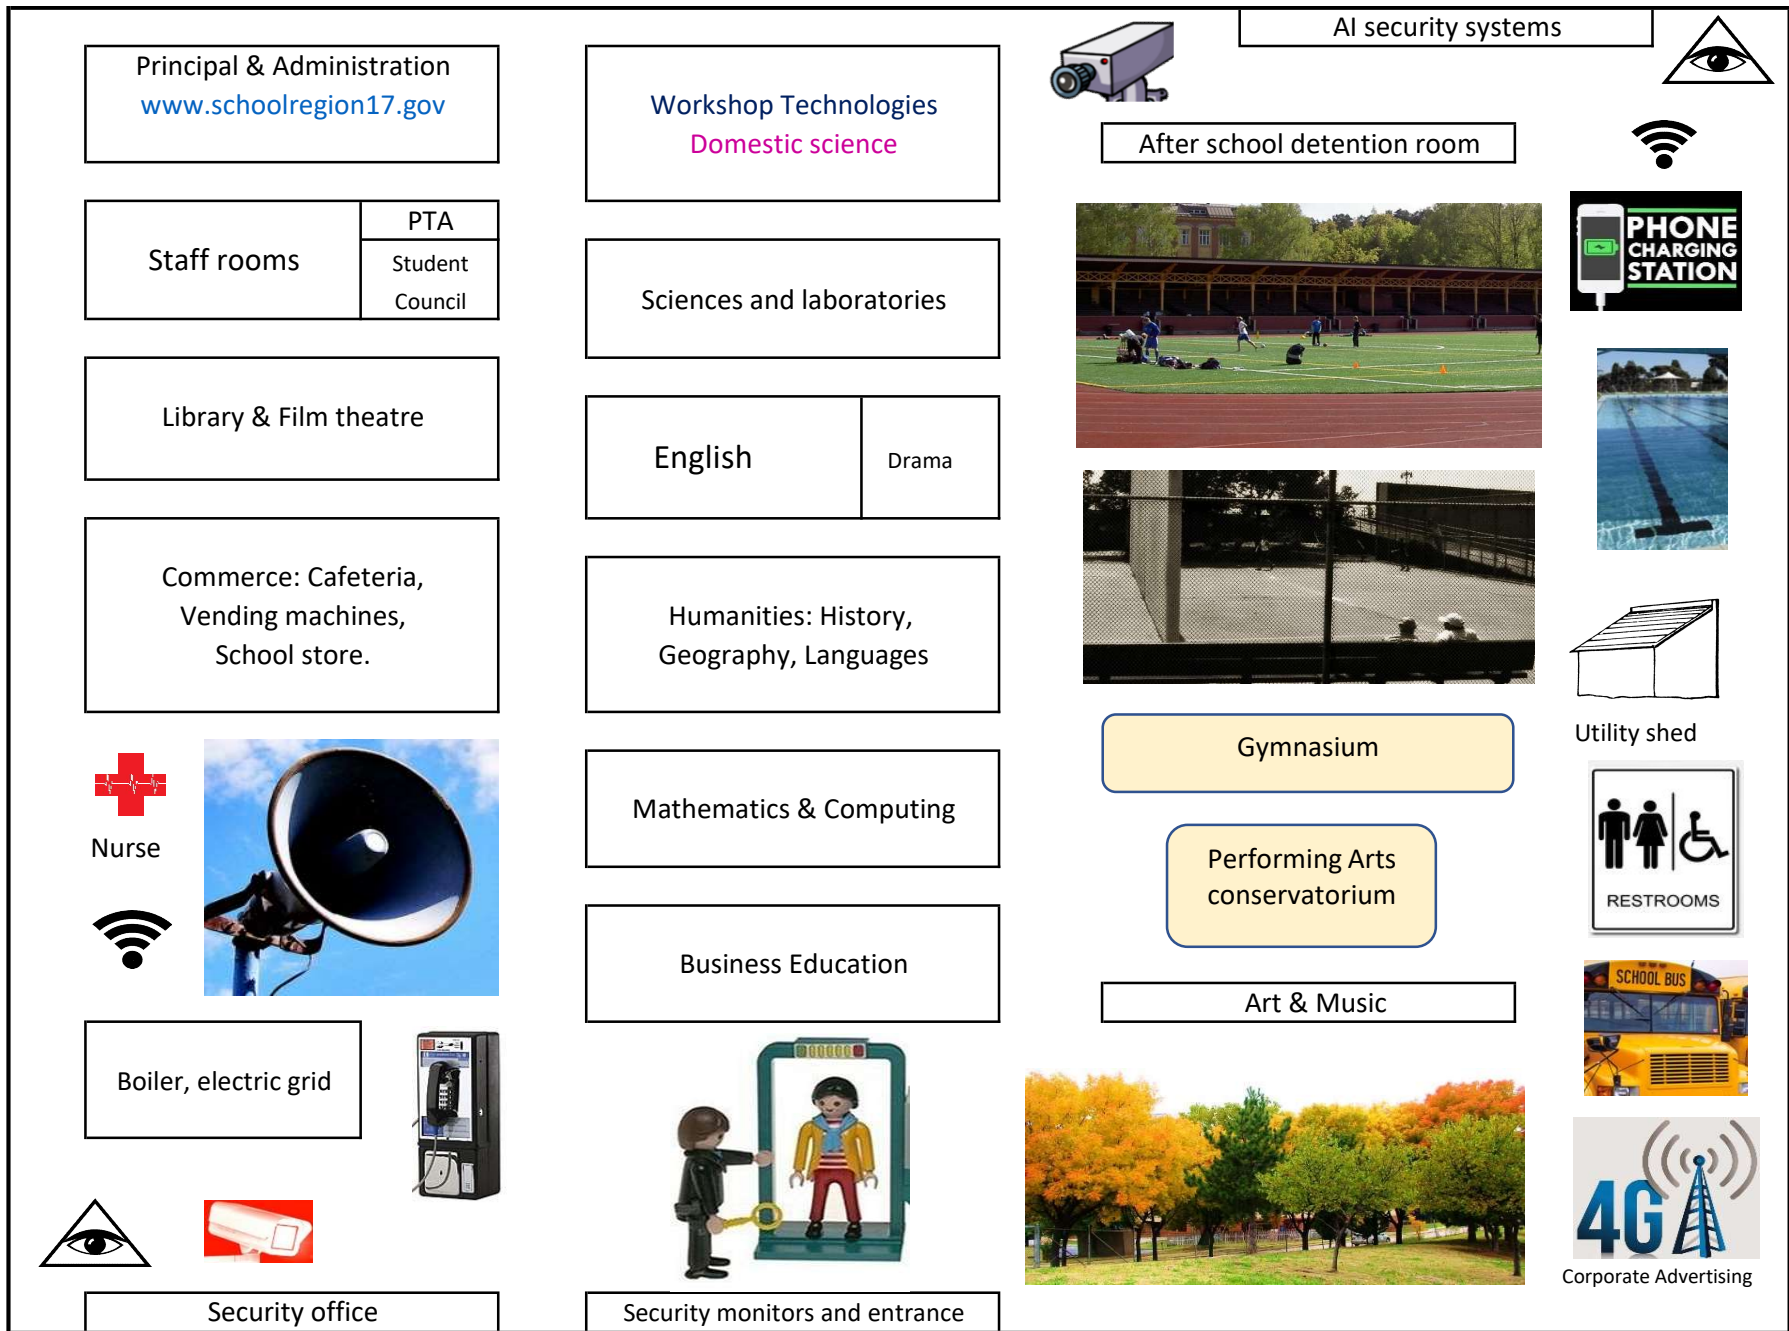

The diagrams on the following two pages are extracts from this author's catalog. The first two figures show the social and physical organization of a typical government funded public high school akin to those seen in Western nations such as Canada. Such schools aim to mirror the broader economy and society. To this author, these labeled diagrams are self-explanatory.

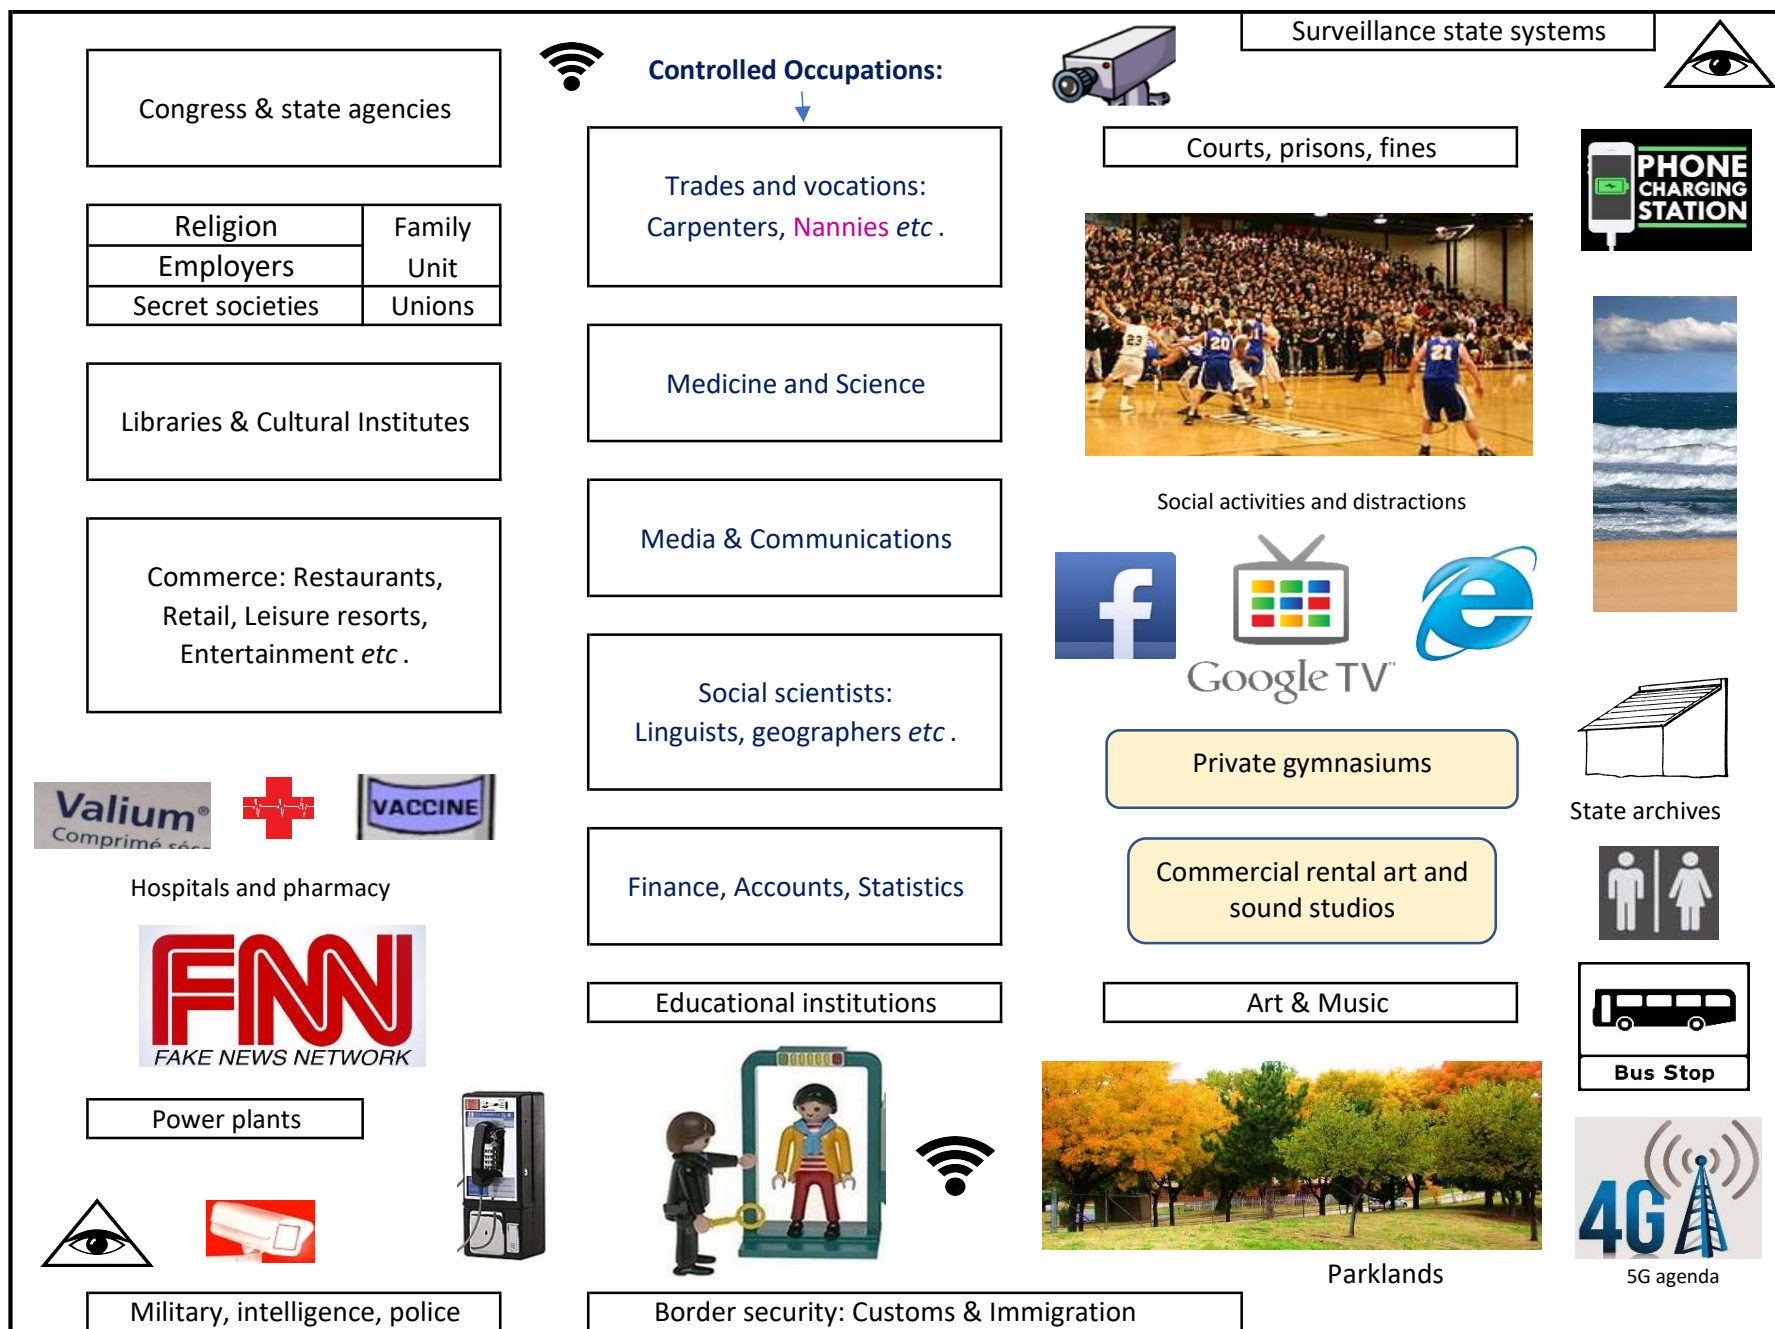

The phenomenon shown in these diagrams are not automatically positive, negative or neutral in theory or practice. These schematics merely aim to show an example of a way that readers can form a notion of an overarching matrix of control, if they freely form this conclusion. This author theorizes that these same internal replications of a broader system of control exist in other major institutional structures. These include congress, military societies and large corporations .

Those who are interested to access the diagrams on pages 14 and 15 in context may view these images on pages 17 and 18 of this free (open-access) book.

Top-down

The diagram overleaf is from this author's NESARA publication dated mid-2019. This book explores the theory that America's Congress secretly enacted The National Economic Stabilization and Recovery Act in 2000. This act implements a national economic reset. Readers may download this free 201 pages book in the link shown at the bottom of the prior page.

NESARA

To amend the Federal Reserve Act of 1913, as amended; and the Internal Revenue Code of 1939, as amended; in order to secure for the American people their unalienable right to Life, Liberty, and Property.

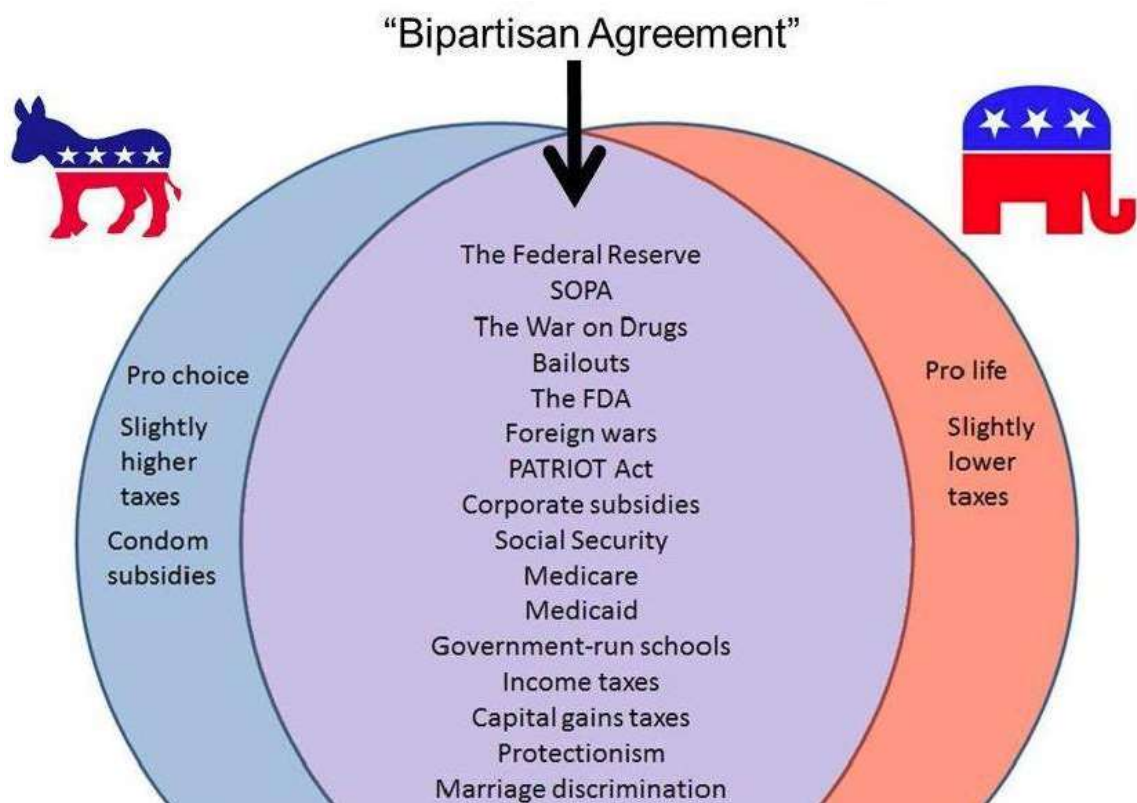

The schematic overleaf may inspire readers to view the political economy from various vantage points. As shown in the diagram below, these vantage points, from highest to lowest are Galactic, Ancient History, Modern Imperialism, Modern History (Bretton Woods) and the present.

This book largely ignores issues concerning so-called galactic, intergalactic and inter-dimensional ideas. If by chance one day this author is fortunate enough to be abducted by prodding and probing aliens from Uranus, he might start to write about these sorts of things. I await and beg for this interesting encounter. I acknowledge that these issues are a serious topic for a statistical minority that collectively account for tens or hundreds of millions of people on this planet.

Theater

Red party versus Blue party voter choice is a sick global illusion. The same core policies remain no matter which party wins. I take America, pre-January 2017 as case in point. Red and Blue were both committed to the toxic globalist Trans Pacific Partnership. It was inevitable that membership of this treaty would further exacerbate mass unemployment in America as this nation's manufacturing base eroded. Meanwhile more county, state and federal politicians became richer from insider stock market trading and pay-to-play government contracting (Simpson, 2019).

LS (2019)

Poisonous parliamentary debates are Live Action Role Plays (LARP). This theatre aims to distract voters from ways that corrupt politicians serve the 0.001% as We the People slide deeper into debt and poverty. These poisonous power games are part real. The winning party, Red or Blue, may earn more money from pay-to-play government contracts they dish out to corporate donors.

Thespians

This world is fake. Artificial Stupidity (AI) Stock market prices, CNN news, aspartame – the list goes on. Fake, phony and false. Most household names who are billionaire entrepreneurs are fake actors, parachuted into the limelight. Having a public relations front man/woman serves multiple roles. Public backlashes eventually occur when government (intelligence agencies) created monopolies and oligopolies, posing as private enterprises, scam billions of dollars from slave staff and customers. Amazon, PayPal, Google, the fake IELTS scam exam – the list goes on.

MK Ultra bug eyes are one way that we can identify those who signed their souls to Stanford in the name and shame of making quick fortunes and fame. It's time to call a spade a blade.

TIM (2019)

False flag anti Second Amendment scapegoat

MK Ultra mind-control thespianism is not a Red, Blue or Green phenomenon. It's universal.

MK Ultra bug eyed cyborgs pay a price. They absorb the scorn of the millions who don't realize that royals and fake religions in Europe are the trillionaire arch beneficiaries behind the curtain.

Tailoring

A recurring theme in this book is that there are four sometimes overlapping main ways to escape this mad matrix. These are: boycott, filter, fight and flight. For example, you conclude that Amazon is a slave hell gulag. it is a criminal enterprise that regulators are too fearful to prosecute.

Boycott: You refuse to buy anything on Amazon. Everything that is sold on Amazon has good or perfect substitutes available via other means, even if they are more expensive and arrive slower.

Filter: You use firewall and internet block options to ban any website that mentions Amazon.

Fight: You organize a global petition to have Amazon prosecuted for mass Labor Law violations.

Flight: You live in a jurisdiction where certain essentials are only available on Amazon. You would rather die than enrich bug eyed Bezos. You and your fabulous family move to another country.

IC (2011)

MK Ultra AI upload version q6.66. Ewwwlllll.

What do you make of this author's list of four basic responses?

How might your beautiful mind change this list based on your life experiences?

Trades

Have you ever lost a friend to a cult? Amway or an army? On average, adults work about 25 hours a week for pay, or 18% of their time. We don't need to define ourselves by work. It's a free choice.

Why do so many assign themselves by their profession? What is their coded message? Perhaps:

Military – My gun is bigger than yours; we are the ultimate power on the planet.

Musicians – Pied Piper prowess.

Medicine – We control bodies, and everybody has a body, right?

Marketing – Applied psychology; manipulative mastery over merchandise.

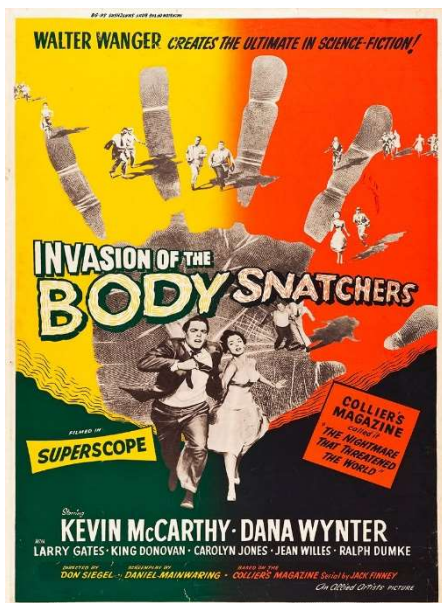

Media – The masses do not get to know the truth unless we say so.

Movie stars – Rich, untouchable, gorgeous and fabulous.

Magistrates – Arch enforcers; we can lock up anyone, even Presidents, but not royals.

Mafia – We run the world behind the underworld satin curtain. Indeed, you do.

Virtually all professions may offer net positive benefits in a better world. Those who steer the global network of control, seduce puppet pawn professionals with a unique feeling of superiority and jurisdictional control. We are all expendable and have no serious professional power. Almighty MD apex consultants must follow professional guidelines. Step outside this matrix and they risk incarceration, deregistration, public shaming, a lawsuit, blacklisting or all above. How many people do you know who remain working in the same industry and/or employer for more than 10 years, have genuine passion toward their duties, employer, industry, stakeholders and clients? Surprise me. I am genuinely hoping that you say “millions, you cynical cow”. Moooooooooo.

Trojans

In theory, the almighty United States Armed Forces are a rare example of a major national military force that does not serve an entity above its Constitution. China and Russia are supposedly members of this elite club. London, Paris et al. report to Rome (see Jericho, 2019a).

Oaths of Enlistment and Oaths of Office history.army.mil/html/faq/oaths.html

The wordings of the current oath of enlistment and oath for commissioned officers are as follows:

"I, _____, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; and that I will obey the orders of the President of the United States and the orders of the officers appointed over me, according to regulations and the Uniform Code of Military Justice. So help me God."

(Title 10, US Code; Act of 5 May 1960 replacing the wording first adopted in 1789, with amendment effective 5 October 1962).

"I, _____ (SSAN), having been appointed an officer in the Army of the United States, as indicated above in the grade of _____ do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic, that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion; and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office upon which I am about to enter; So help me God."

America's relations with Britain and her sister, the European Union, have been rocky since after President Donald Trump assumed the Presidency of America in January 20, 2017. This author and many others confidently speculate that this President is leading a covert war which aims to expel the Saxe-Coburg & Gotha (King Charles) inbred crime family from its subversive influence over America's powerful politic and economic institutions. Other writers such as Ehret share this view.

Thugs

Courts, cops, soldiers and sheriffs should play a pivotal, positive role in society. Law enforcement should uphold justice. The military repels enemies of the nation. In an ideal we strive to create. In the real world, these actors serve the 0.001 puppet masters. Judges who are known to serve the Mad Max matrix are appointed and promoted. The same may be said of soldiers and cops who are appointed to executive ranks. Paychecks, perks and honor medals bribe the working class into serving a force that considers them to be little more than expendable cannon fodder.

Australia's entire lawlessness and disorder injustice system has long served the inbred Saxe-Coburg & Gotha Anglo-Germanic crime family that occupies Buckingham Palace since after this nation was invaded by brute murderous force by England in 1788. These truths hide in plain sight. All 50 or so law and order institutions in this nation sports a British Royal crown on their badges.

The Saxe-Coburg & Gotha (Buckingham Palace) inbred crime family and its Commonwealth Empire comprises 53 slave nations. When their police puppets confiscate property and collect fines, they do so on behalf of the coffers of King Charles of England. This truth hides in plain sight.

How might these parameters below aim to guide the ways that you engage with law enforcement, justice and military systems that influence your day-to-day life?

Other parameters – your suggestion.

For illustration purposes, this author offers an example of how he deals with these collectives.

Fight: This author surmises that citizens of the Commonwealth have been brainwashed by their public education system en masse to believe that the British-Germanic Royal crime family are just figureheads with no power. His writings aim to expose the vast financial and cultural power exerted by the Saxe-Coburg & Gotha crime family, using evidence, citations and logical reasoning to illustrate their insatiable greed, brutality and toxicity. He is self-reflexive. He understands that his views are not conveyed diplomatically. These views challenge mediocre status quo academia.

To what extent do you agree with the opinions put forward by this author in this chapter?

Totalitarianism

What is the end game of the extended Deep State crime cartel, which includes its new brotherly love, Beijing? North Korea offers a sneak-peak into this question. The narrative that North Korea was a rogue state is/was about as fake as the latest unemployment data. A major power such as China or America could have invaded North Korea in a few days and overthrown this mafia crime state. North Korea was a European Deep State slave gulag experiment partnership with Beijing.

A brutal global gangster economy end game.

Deep State end game

- Dynastic supranational dictators for life – Example: Führer Merkel, European Union Dictator
- Massive portraits of a dear leader on every street corner and in every schoolbook textbook
- Two main types of employees: soldiers and slave farm workers who work for rice and water
- No free press – media brainwashing propaganda about our immortal Dear Leader for Life
- Massive surveillance of all types of communications and universal censorship of all truth
- Kangaroo courts; summary executions; forced labor concentration camps
- One national religion, state-sponsored child sex trafficking; organ theft harvesting. Etc.

A scaredy cat society, basically.

Adolph Hitler on super-steroids. 😞

Deep State monsters sure love their Babylonian pyramids. This fake empty hotel in Pyongyang is an example of how the Deep State East meets its Western counterpart. Partners in slime.

The devious Deep State hates laughter. Let's lip LOL as often as we can.

Time space

Trapped

This section offers a basic, Earthy discussion of the two bounds that limit the ability of people to achieve all the things that they desire to realize in one lifetime. These parameters are time and space. Some people may strive to publish 777 best seller fiction novels in their lifetime. This is probably impossible for virtually all people because of the time factor. This feat has never been realized by any person in recorded history. Some octogenarians who live in a nursing home may aim to walk the full length of the Appalachian trail. For them, this may be impossible because this track is about 2,200 miles long. Their body can only walk about a quarter of a mile per day.

The last example above overlaps with time and space. Some people in this category may be able to walk this trail if they live to about age 110. They may require a team of dedicated assistants.

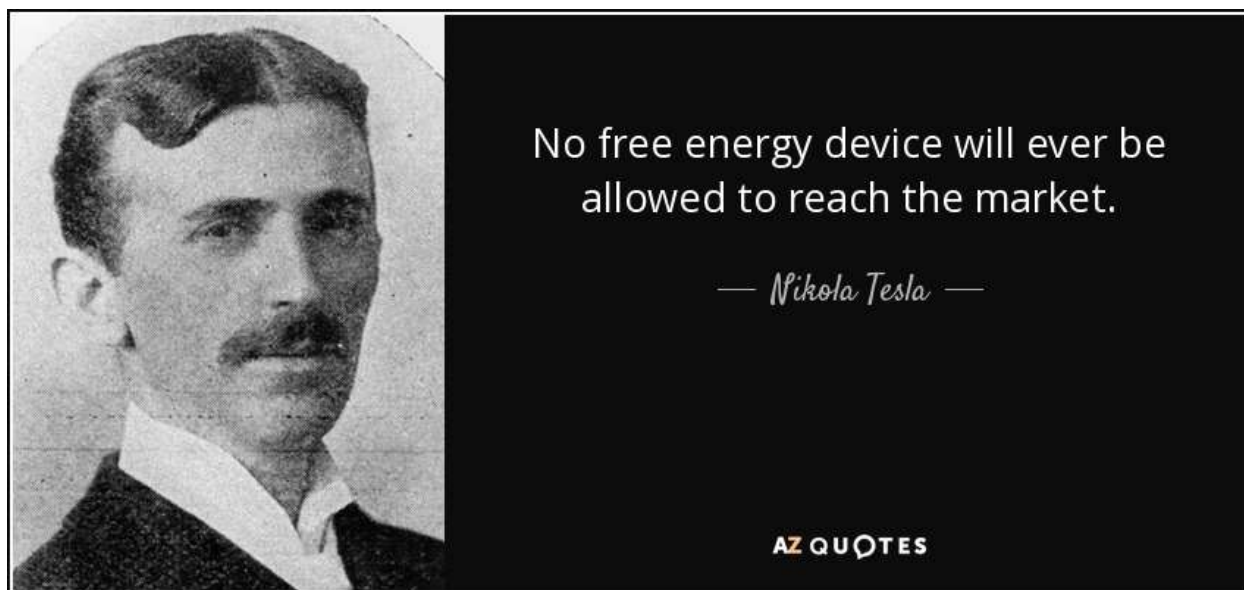

Others who write about time and space, talk about issues that are not proven by conventional science. For example, some people claim that they visit their relatives who live in a different hemisphere via dream visitations. Time and space limitations are barriers that are overcome in a matter of milliseconds. A visible number of people believe in paranormal acts such as remote viewing. This is the ability for one to leave their body and view Earth from a high altitude.

Issues about paranormal psychology and fringe spirituality are beyond this book's grounded discussions that centers on core issues about global power and control.

Tesla

Tales about Nikola Tesla are probably the most famous folk lore in forums that vehemently challenge orthodox science narratives about the cost of distributing energy. Many commentators claim that Nikola Tesla (1856-1943) developed patents that enable people to obtain unlimited free energy from renewable power sources that are abundantly available on this planet.

An extension of these unproven theories claims that much of Nikola Tesla's secret works were acquired by MIT Physicist Dr John G Trump. Dr Trump is the paternal grandfather of American President Donald Trump. This topic may be worthy of inquiry for those who are intrigued by popular folk lore that has a logical ring to the narrative. Big energy companies such as Royal Dutch Shell may stand to lose trillions of dollars in revenue from the mainstreaming of free energy.

Do you agree that MIT University seems to be involved in most major historical events that shape major civilizational and technology culture changes?

Which university awarded Dr Buzz Aldrin an earned Doctoral Degree?

Threesomes

Trilogies

This author considered ‘three’ to be a ‘special’ number decades prior to viewing the Hollywood movie The Matrix in 2019. The reasons for this thought are nothing too mystical. It stems from the obvious fact that too many false binaries in life don’t offer the truths that they promise. For example, consider this question. Is B+ a good grade for a college essay? Most people probably accept the answer that B+ is a good grade – Yes. Some may argue that a B+ is not a good outcome for a student studying at an Ivy League or for one aiming for a PhD scholarship. Most people in these categories earn/require an A or A+ average. Some people may argue that a B+ grade is average (neither a ‘Yes’ nor ‘No’ answer) if that student always scores a B+ for their essay papers. Yes or No limitation answers invariably depend on context and relative comparisons.

When a light switch is half on, half off, and the light bulb shows a miniscule glowing flicker, is the light turned on or off? Some may argue that the answer is debatable. I think that the light bulb is on, if a glow of any magnitude shows. ‘Off’ means there is no circuit in action. Do you agree?

Binary code is an example of yes, no, other scenario matrixes. 1 = On. 0 = Off. Digits 10 and 01 combinations represent an alternative reality to on (yes) and off (no) such as ‘unknown’.

For many, the American Presidential election in 2016 presented the classic trichotomy red-blue-other election campaign. Voters could elect delicious Donald or huggable Hillary. Dare devil rebels could vote for jolly Jill – the outsider, no real hope candidate; the protest vote.

Ms. Blue

Mr. Red

Ms. Green

This collage of superstar legends above aims to illustrate how trichotomies such as 1, 0 or 10/01 may also be false. America's registered living voters who are citizens, which is possibly lower than the total number of votes, had other options during 2016. Examples included:

- Boycotting the November 2016 election
- Fielding their own candidate who was neither blue, red or green
- Voting for Libertarian candidate Gary Johnson.

Many matrixes replicate and consolidate via voluntary consent. Criminal candidates who are elected into office may feel legitimized by voluntary voter participation. A danger of a zero-voter turnout is that a power vacuum may be created. A nation may be left without a government.

Titans

The global network of control is replicated by celebrities and other cronies. These singers and actors tell us what to buy, what to think, who to like, what to wear and who we should vote for.

Some celebrities claim to be independent rebels who fight global oppression. This author urges people to consider the idea of controlled opposition. The details of this principle are easy to find via search engines such as DuckDuckGo. Controlled opposition may be the classic case of hopium (hope + opium) suppression. The masses don't need to rise-up because we have powerful, wealthy superstars who claim to work tirelessly on our behalf. Are some black hats in white hats?

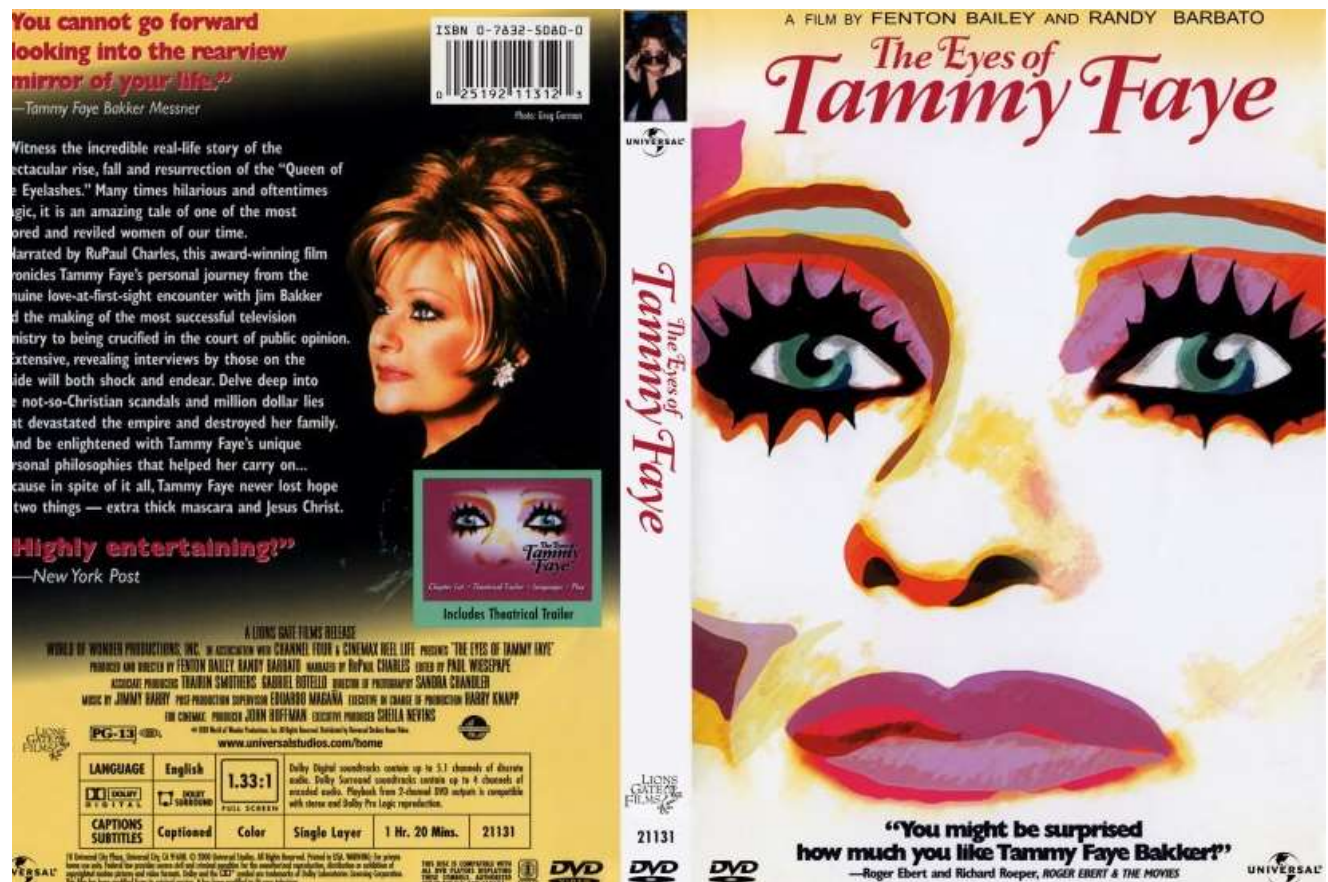

According to corporate media, agents like Bono and Michael Moore are champions of the people.

Pop singer, poverty fighter Bono is a resident of tax haven, Monaco. It is unclear how much influence his rhetoric wields over millennials. Most of his pop songs peaked in the charts last century. Kanye West is an example of an interesting chameleon. In recent years, his public image has transitioned from commercial pop singer to commercial Gospel singer. Watch his space.

Timeles

The late Tammy Faye-Messner is a classic example of a legend who lived their life on planet Earth on their own terms for an extended period. Tammy Faye was an ordained Pentecostal Preacher. She ministered her own Church Congregations during the 1970s and 1980s. Her pioneering Tele-Evangelical Ministry extravaganza was broadcast to millions of people worldwide every Sunday.

It is ultra-rare to see such Church ministers frocked in theatrical kitsch kits as they joyously sing and dance freely in the name of the Holy Lord.

Whatever adjectives people may project towards Tammy's legacy, few label her boring. The few who escape the matrix always live interesting lives. Ms. Mascara. Signature-style, all the way.

Territory

Tenants

S/he who manages the land on planet Earth, controls this planet. That isn't a clever or inspiring opening sentence. It's sort of obvious. Economists teach us that there are three prime resources: land, labor and capital. Control over the land encompasses control over labor and capital. Theoretical exceptions may exist. One nation may control Earth's tunnels, while its arch enemy monopolizes space technology, but cannot use this aerial technology to control under the Earth.

Full self-empowerment via land ownership is a myth. According to folk lore, people may buy farming land, install rainwater tanks, windmills and harvest their own food, water and energy. Enter governments. Some dare to tell landowners how they may collect and use rainwater.

sanfrancisco.cbslocal.com/2015/11/10/is-it-illegal-to-collect-rain-water-in-oregon/

Other states maintaining rainwater collection laws include Arizona, Illinois, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, Texas, Utah, Virginia and Washington.

These laws don't make it illegal to collect rainwater; they outline allowable uses for rainwater and establish tax credits for people who invest in rainwater collection

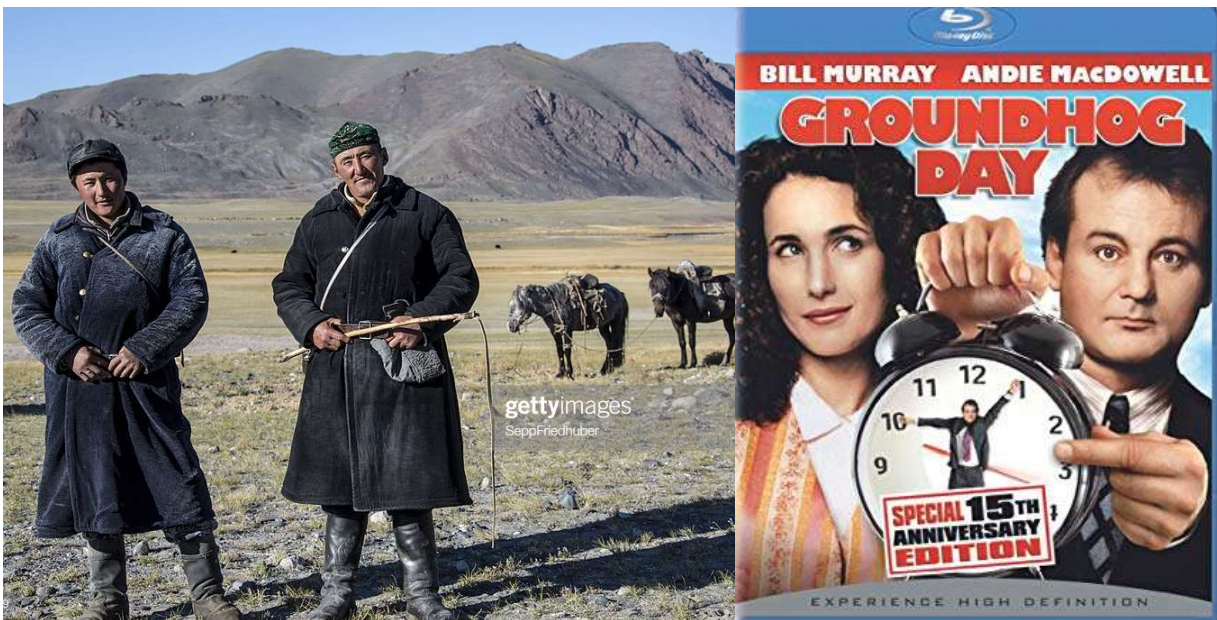

Virtually all governments retain the power to confiscate land under the auspices of national security or securing minerals or energy that are essential to support their nation. Most jurisdictions offer financial compensation for such seizures. They decide the amount paid.

The Saxe-Coburg & Gotha (King Charles) crime family own virtually all land in Great Britain. So-called Land Registries in Britain merely register various types of leases such as freehold lease titles. The Anglo-Germanic-Nordic family that occupies Buckingham Palace are the ultimate owners of British land (Cahill, 2011). They impose property tax on 'landowners' with impunity.

Travelers

Are gypsies, Roma, hobos, pikeys, nomads and perpetual travelers among the freest peoples on this planet? Please consider the potential advantages of such lifestyles:

- ✓ Such persons have a strong connection to the land – they know how to survive in a crisis
- ✓ The potential tedium of living forever in the same location is usually not an issue
- ✓ ‘Familiarity breeds contempt’ is famed idiom that may not translate to this community
- ✓ The world is an oyster and these types are more likely to live it, breathe it and smell it.

A person who is truly free from the global network of control probably believes that no lifestyle that doesn't hurt others is automatically inferior or superior to others.

Each to their own – yay or nnnnneigh? Or some other response, perhaps.

Transients

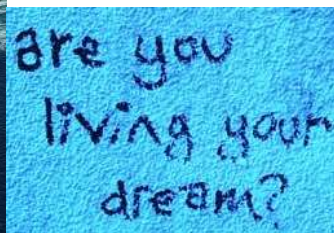

Human history is littered with oral and written narratives of those who fled to foreign lands to find their faith, fortune, fame, fraternity or whatever. Are you seriously unhappy with your country of origin or where you currently live? Migration opportunities are aplenty for the brave.

- Dominica sells citizenship residency for those who can afford circa USD$130K and up.
- Canada offers skilled migration visas for those who can pass the rigged IELTS scam exam.
- Many countries in Africa unofficially allow bona fide citizens of fellow African nations to migrate there – no visa required. You will probably be limited to the 2nd class labor market.
- New Zealanders and Australians can live and work in either country without a visa.

These points are examples of thousands of opportunities. Other examples include asylum, refugee visas and living the rest of your life on a 60-foot fairyland yacht in international waters.

Those who claim to know about aliens, mostly talk about Tall Whites, Greys, Pleiadians (Nordics), Archons and Reptilians. These classifications overlap in literature. Some are naughty and some are nice. A bit like Santa's incoming mail. This chart is an example of an alien classification.

A popular theory in this genre is the idea that some people have reptilian souls and/or inherit reptilian DNA from family. These cold-blooded psychopaths obsess with money, power, deceit and planetary control. CEO's who sack staff for attending their child's funeral are an example.

Time-lapse

There are multiple ways of looking at time lapse. If indeed time exists. Many argue it does not.

Time lapse may be linear. It is customary to read linear timelines from left to right.

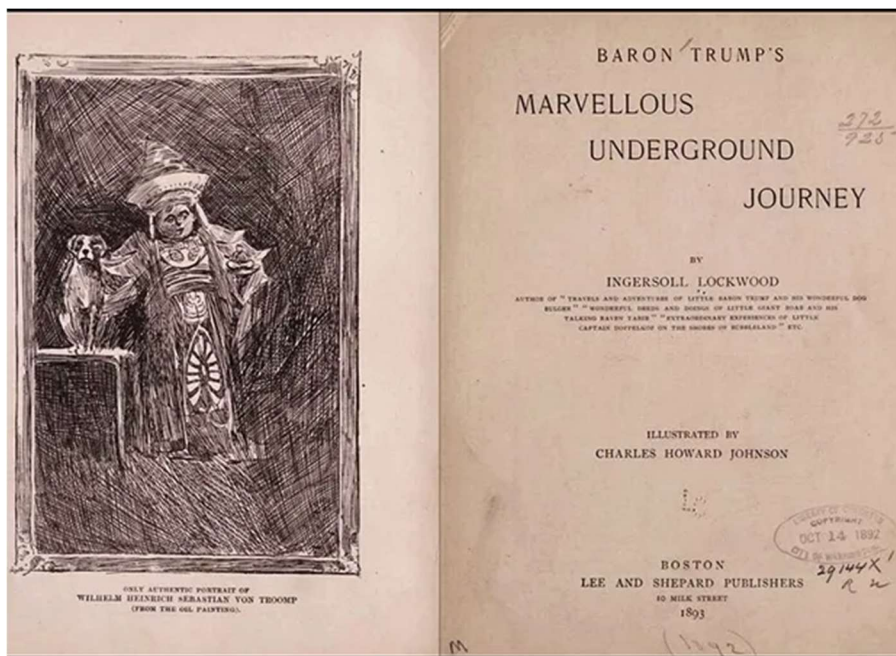

Time lapse, for some is a spiral process. For many astrophysicists this makes sense. Planets such as Venus and Uranus orbit around our solar system in a repeat cycle. Is this why history repeats?

Solar cycles may explain why winter occurs mid-year annually in the Southern Hemisphere.

Time-travel

A lot of people who fantasize about time machines talk about going back to the past. Maybe they just want to turn the clock back 24 hours, so that they can fill out a Lotto form, knowing what lotto numbers were drawn today. Others would love to go further back in time. Maybe to watch a gladiator duel in the callous Colosseum. Of course, time machines officially do not exist.

Regimes that use control of the human body to monopolize society at-large are about as original as carbon. It's sort of obvious. Humans are bodies. Some readers may dispute this. Many people see the human body as an expression of spiritual consciousness and/or electromagnetic fields. The ways and whys of how apex criminals who run this planet control the body is worthy of a bloated handbook. On this page, I merely list one broad mode: subliminal coercion.

Coercion is cheaper and more subtle than force. For example, 'fat shaming', via news stories, Hollywood movies and countless other modes serves two core purposes. It earns corporations trillions of dollars in revenue per decade from dubious services and goods such as slimming pills and diet shakes. We are enslaved to shopping, exercise and diets. Our voluntary submission distracts us from challenging royals and other apex crime cartels who benefit from our servitude.

Natural body size is part biological, part social construction. The so-called Body Mass Index (BMI) is subjective. If you look at the natural body shape of some people born in exotic food rich places like Fiji and Tonga, these bootyful beauties are naturally large hipped and statuesque. Some of these people will never pass the BMI. Good luck to them. They are healthy, free and gorgeous.

How often do you see fat main characters of TV?

Pardon fat blob me if I offend for not using soothing synonyms such as obese, cuddly, big, plus size or other politically correct adjectives. The virtual absence of cuddly people in movies, TV and other media is a subtle way that matrix controllers force us to slim slave.

‘No Jab, No Play’: How Australia Is Handling the Vaccination Debate

The Australian Government financially sanctions parents who do not vaccinate their children.

This policy enriches the multibillion dollars fake pharma industry. And what’s in these vaccines?

An ever-growing number of people who live in the West are shunning Western clinical medicines for natural therapies. Western medicine has its place. A Hospital Emergency Department is the best place to go for a person who has had a limb and a major artery severed in a car crash.

The human body is a bio-organic organism. Six elements, Hydrogen, Carbon, Nitrogen, Calcium, Phosphorous and Oxygen account for about 99% of your body mass. The same components are found naturally in organic medicines such as garlic and ginger. Natural therapies may offer a cheaper, less toxic treatment for minor ailments such as colds, than a cocktail of poison.

Cheers, big ears. Let’s raise a toast to our life-giver liver.

Tourism

A major way that many people try to escape local controls that regulate their body is to enter the health tourism market. People may purchase drugs, surgeries and other medical procedures offshore. Three main factors drive this boom industry. The first is cost. The price of a Thailand Botox and Facelift combo may cost about 10% of what a plastic surgeon in New York may charge.

The second reason is legality. In certain jurisdictions, such as China and India, baby sex selection via Invitro Fertilization (IVF) is illegal. Many people in these nations travel to countries such as America which allows sex selection within the bounds of Preimplantation Genetic Diagnosis.

This story published by CNBC in 2018 classifies gender selection procedures under its “TECH” news section, as opposed to its medical section. The word “ethical” in the web address header highlights the controversy. Most opinions on this topic fall into three categories. The first is religious objection (‘ungodly’). Opposing views argue that they have freedom to control their bodies in the creation of life. A mid view may argue that gender selection is not unethical only when the procedure aims to eliminate sex linked chronic disease. Of course, other views exist.

TECH

Health standards may be a reason for health tourism. Health standards in countries such as America and Canada are higher than certain poorer nations in, in Southeast Asia or example.

Transhumanism

Transhumanism is a broad area. Trans refers to change that challenges boundaries. Examples of words that illustrate this argument are transition, transfer, transcend and transnational. Transhumanism projects aim to extend limitations of the bio-organic human body. A baby is self-sustaining pure organic matter when it exits in its mother's body. If a computer chip is placed in this person's hand at age 18, one may argue that this body has morphed into a transhuman entity.

Business Insider (2017)

This man above is a real-life case of a person who voluntarily allowed his hand to be microchipped. This chip aids him to scan a machine to purchase without using cash or a card.

Transhumanism is not a new concept. Bionic prosthetic limb replacements existed in the 1980s.

businessinsider.com/the-evolution-of-prosthetic-technology-2014-8#an-artificial-hand-from-the-1980s-

An artificial hand from the 1980s is powered by two electrodes that stimulate the muscle impulses that accompany normal muscle contractions. The unit is powered by a battery.

Transistors

The so-called transhumanism agenda, if one exists, is a deeply distasteful subject for many people who remain abreast of this field. This relatively brief video by Dave Hodges, dated mid-December 2019, is worth watching for those who are new to this field and are curious. The duration of this video is long enough to offer good detail and brief enough to not overwhelm/bore viewers.

Dave theorizes that those who control AI robotics, secretly plan to mass murder excess persons who have not been converted into transhuman machines. We are surplus to these controllers' requirements. This could be every non transhuman person – i.e. billions. A person who has replaced their limbs with robotics can run faster, higher and longer than a pure bioorganic body. Robot humans may be the best machine for warmongers who control this planet via incessant wars. Machines do not disobey unethical orders. Dave theorizes that clandestine military projects are on the brink of transferring a human soul (if such a thing exists) and memory into a robot.

Björk Guðmundsdóttir (1999) may have foreboded this project at the close of the last century.

Brainwashing mind-control is near-universal. This author argues that deceit is the foundation of a mind-control matrix. Faking the number of followers on your Twitter account is deception. Educators speak about three R's. I think they are referring to apex criminals who run this planet: royals, religion (Black Jesuit pope), Rothschilds and the Roman black sun master they serve.

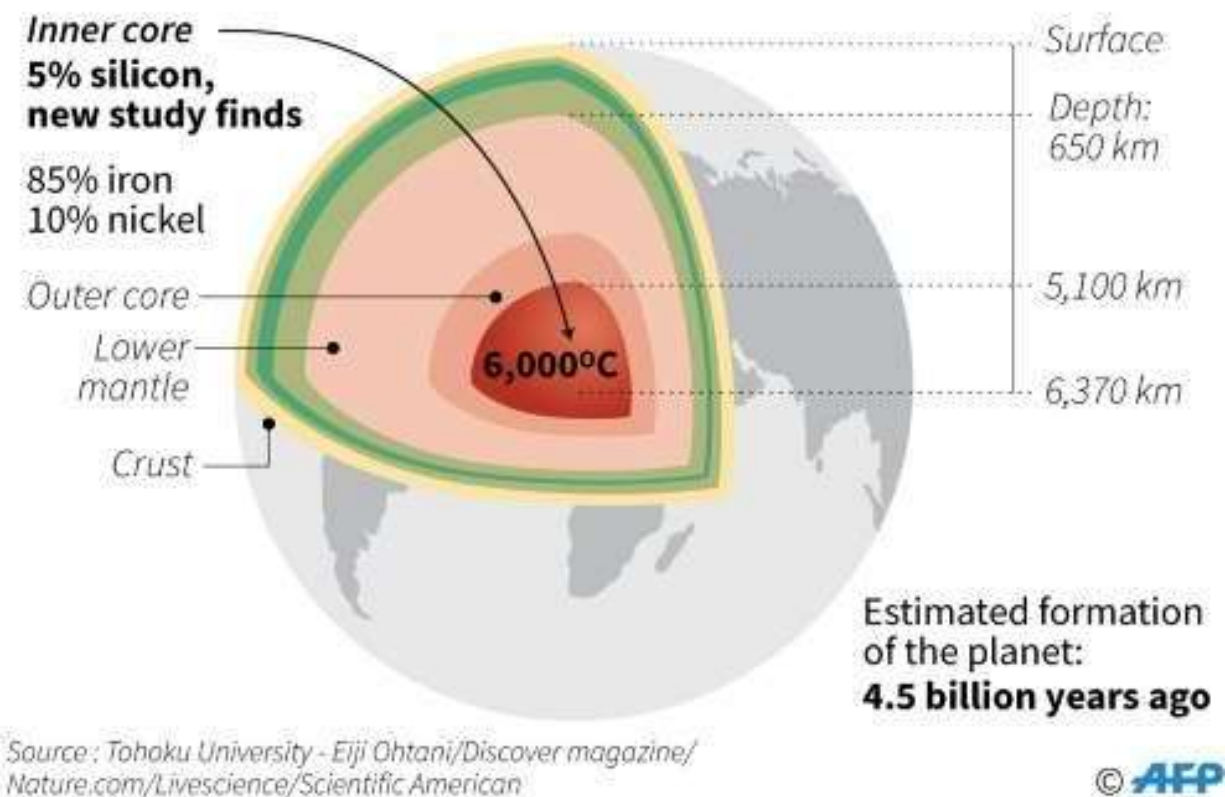

A rule of thumb. Follow the funding. If it is one of the R's – cautious suspicion may be healthy.

What would you do if you discovered that everything you had been told by news, TV, religion, politicians and schools were lies?

Mystery at the core of the Earth smithsonianmag.com/smithsonian-institution/ask-smithsonian-whats-deepest-hole-ever-dug-180954349/

The Kola Superdeep Borehole was just 9 inches in diameter, but at 40,230 feet (12,262 meters) reigns as the deepest hole. It took almost 20 years to reach that 7.5-mile depth—only half the distance or less to the mantle. Among the more interesting discoveries: microscopic plankton fossils found at four miles down. The Kola hole was abandoned in 1992 when drillers encountered higher-than-expected temperatures—356 degrees Fahrenheit, not the 212 degrees that had been mapped.

Virtually all scientists concur we have never surveyed beyond 12.2 KM below Earth's surface.

What the Fairytale? Lies, damn lies and status quo fake science.

Tests

Academic tests are a staple of the insatiable garbage guts matrix. So are other tests for that matter: medical exams, driving tests, psychometric employment tests and so on. Not all tests are nefarious. Some of us want to know if we have diabetes or are too clumsy to drive safely.

Free School systems are an example of an education system that do not encourage or enforce mandatory assessment testing. Such systems are probably anti-testing.

smithsonianmag.com/innovation/why-are-finlands-schools-successful-49859555/

There are no mandated standardized tests in Finland, apart from one exam at the end of students' senior year in high school. There are no rankings, no comparisons or competition between students, schools or regions. Finland's schools are publicly funded. The people in the government agencies running them, from national officials to local authorities, are educators, not business people, military leaders or career politicians. Every school has the same national goals and draws from the same pool of university-trained educators. The result is that a Finnish child has a good shot at getting the same quality education no matter whether he or she lives in a rural village or a university town. The differences between weakest and strongest students are the smallest in the world, according to the most recent survey by the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD). "Equality is the most important word in Finnish education. All political parties on the right and left agree on this," said Olli Luukkainen, president of Finland's powerful teachers union.

Mandatory school tests may have detrimental outcomes. Passing or failing a test is not an indicator of a student's ability to succeed after school in general or in that course. Many schools become obsessed with only teaching skills that are tested in public exams, so that they can earn a high league table ranking. As a result, few useful life or work skills get imparted in the classroom.

Tradition

Tradition is not automatically good, bad, neutral or something else. It depends on context and the values of individuals interpreting situations. Many who identify as 'traditionalists', whatever that adjective means per se, emphasize the importance preserving their favored traditions.

In this author's mere opinion, deference to the importance of 'tradition' is often a lazy catchall phrase used to automatically justify an argument's validity. This mindset is dangerous for overlaying reasons. For example, many universities in the British tradition host so-called frat hazing. An example of hazing is a drunken gang pinning down a freshman, ripping off his/her clothes and throwing them into a college pond during the first week of semester 1. Something about tradition. Countless freshman has drowned. Many others suffered massive head injuries.

en.wikipedia.org/wiki/List_of_hazing_deaths_in_the_United_States

List of hazing deaths in the United States

Staunch defenders of upholding certain popular traditions may appoint denigrating labels on others who discreetly choose to not partake in certain cultural rituals. 'Anti' is a popular example. People who never vote in federal elections are supposedly anti-democratic. This is a false logic.

Traditionalists who lobby to control the ways that people may act in the privacy of their own home may be an example of toxic totalitarians who identify as exemplars. A free society is about free choice. Virtually all universal exceptions to this rule are merely commonsense. No known society publicly accepts that it is acceptable to torture and murder minors in the name of sport.

Bible classes in public schools? Why Christian lawmakers are pushing a wave of new bills

America's First Amendment separates religion and state. Such arguments are a moot point unless the debater specifically states that America's First Amendment should be altered by referendum.

First Amendment

constitution.congress.gov/constitution/amendment-1/

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

It is difficult to imagine that one denomination will realize national monopoly in the near-future.

This does not mean that none of them act to achieve regional or universal control. Some do.

With rare exceptions, we cannot control the ways that individuals and institutions internally classify our body and life. Please consider these examples.

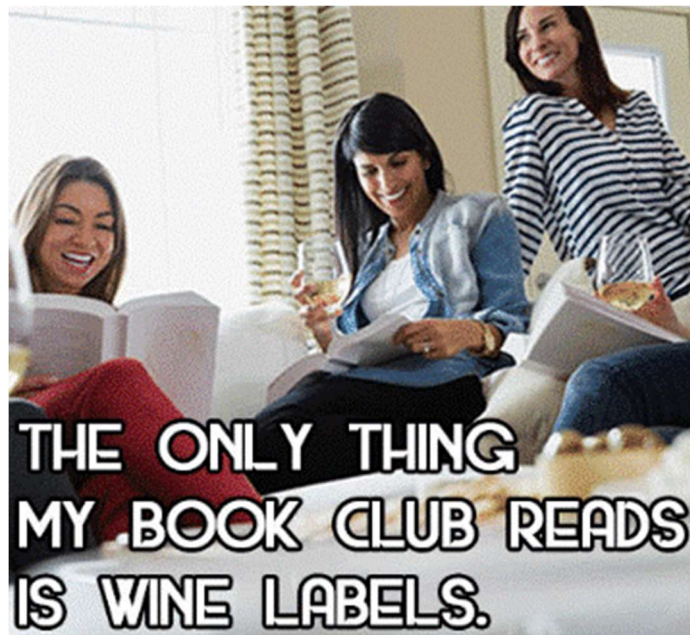

Age: Baby, infant, child, youth, adult, middle-aged, elderly

Genetics: XX, XY, Klinefelter

Class: Working, Middle, Middle-upper, Upper, Political, Royal

Race: White, Afro, Hispanic, Indigenous, Asian, Other

The list goes on. In most jurisdictions it is lawful for a government to classify female citizen residents aged 18 plus as “women” and send them literature about new free government services at breast screening clinics. This behavior seems harmless per se. People can opt out of receiving government health notices in some states. Such options are more common nowadays.

Most of us are members of teams. Some occur by default at birth, such as our belonging to a clan and tribe. Some memberships are automatic, and some are voluntary. We are automatically a citizen of our birth host nation, in most cases. Belonging to a tennis team is an ace experience.

Understanding how our identities merge within a multiplicity of potentially overlapping societies may aid us to understand who we are, how we play out our existence and how we may adapt our behaviors to enjoy our lives as individuals and team players to the fullest potential.

Many see their favorite sports as a mirror of their innate personality and role in society. They also interpret these games as a representation of the social order of a polity, such as their nation or our world. Team defenders may be the earthy silent achievers who work best in back office jobs. Front line offensives may be the jocks and chic IT girls who bask in the glamor and glory.

Many patriots view American Football through this lens. The attention-to-detail of this sport is a metaphor for a national culture of workplace excellence. The Superbowl final unifies the nation.

The market price of virtually all goods and services that you purchase also covers the dozens of taxes paid by businesses. Governments obviously need to collect taxes to fund essential services such as national defense forces. This author conservatively estimates that about 70% of the shelf price of goods and services purchased by Americans funds all government taxes. These taxes go by synonyms such as fines, penalties, levies, surcharges, tolls and license fees. We are taxed on our incomes, expenditure and savings. This is triple-dipping. Taxing the same dollar three times.

The Panama Papers

According to tax history folklore, the late New York billionaire socialite Ms Leona Helmsley said:

Perhaps savvy Leona was onto something. In 2016, the so-called Panama Papers leaked the names of thousands of high-profile tax evaders. Some of this avoidance is lawful – so-called tax minimization planning. Others were unlawful. Some fell into a grey area. The Panama Papers may be indicative of short memories and lack of intervention among ‘outraged’ citizens.

Panama Papers Q&A: What is the scandal about?

bbc.com/news/world-35954224

🕒 6 April 2016

There are links to 12 current or former heads of state and government in the data including dictators accused of looting their own countries.

Which famous apex political operatives were implicated in this scandal?

Were any famous former politicians or house-hold name billionaires prosecuted and tried in a court of law based on evidence contained in Mossack Fonseca’s (law firm) files?

Theft

Most governments routinely steal their residents' assets. When governments confiscate our stuff, it is lawful as they write the law. When others engage in such practices, they are prosecuted for extortion. If property owners cannot or will not comply with infringements notices, court sheriffs and law enforcement officers may confiscate private property, including family homes.

In theory, remedies are available for citizens in democratic nations such Australia. Citizens can vote dispossession happy zealot governments out of office. They may also challenge the lawfulness of government actions in the judicial system, which is supposedly an independent branch of government. Bear in mind that judges are hand-selected by the government of the day.

Governments and public institutions can and do spend massive amounts of money on legal fees to aggressively defend a case. You may risk bankruptcy and homelessness if you spend say $200,000 of your money on attorney fees to unsuccessfully defend a case. This sum may equate to e.g. 0.01% of a state's annual budget. And, to them, this outlay is just other peoples' money.

michigandaily.com/section/administration/'u'-has-spent-16-million-defendi

As of Sept. 27, the University of Michigan spent $1.6 million defending against the Doe v. Baum lawsuit and has spent about $650,000 on the ongoing Doe v. Both lawsuits allege the University's policies violate the due process rights of those accused of sexual misconduct.

Trail

Follow the money is a cliché. In many cases, this catch-cry may offer the best way to investigate and understand the who and whys of systemic government property confiscation regimes. The US Government pays more than a trillion dollars in interest (1, 000 billion plus) per decade.

The New York Times nytimes.com/2018/09/25/business/economy/us-government-debt-inter

As Debt Rises, the Government Will Soon Spend More on Interest Than on the Military

Tax cuts, spending increases and higher interest rates could make it harder to respond to future recessions and deal with other needs.

It is difficult for America's citizens to exercise due diligence and follow the money to investigate whether issues of fraud, waste, corruption or mismanagement are relevant. First, America's accounting systems cannot explain around circa 21 trillion of 'missing' historical expenditures.

forbes.com/sites/kotlikoff/2017/12/08/has-our-government-spent-21-trillion-of-our-money-without-telling-us/#658d5897aef9

Has Our Government Spent $21 Trillion Of Our Money Without Telling Us?

I am co-authoring this column with Mark Skidmore, a Professor of Economics at Michigan State

The US Government has no power to audit the Federal Reserve. This secretive central bank is not a Federal entity. It holds no precious metal reserves. This private bank is mostly owned by European banks who refuse to disclose their names. Such secrecy makes it difficult for diligent citizens to try to understand how national Treasuries control their fate behind a satin cloak.

Totality

Many who act to escape control networks engage with Government systems in the barest capacity. Refusing to register your child's birth may save them from compulsory vaccine regimes.

Such boycotts are rarely easy. Your child may not be able to obtain a passport and will be denied entry into virtually every sovereign nation. What do you think of the noun 'Government Marriage License'? This is a government local monopoly revenue generating business.

There are alternatives to seeking permission from a government for two adults to marry. Some couples are satisfied with a certificate from their religious minister. Others don't need a certificate and are happy to marry among friends and family with the blessing of their tribal leader/s. Whatever choice you make, may it bring you and your loved maximum happiness.

10th Amendment: States' Rights

Of course, many millions, the masses, love their official registry marriage certificate. Nice one.

Tempo

Timetables

Timetables rule most lives, one way or another. Most societies' timetables and calendars are determined by solar cycles. The sun rises in the East and sets in the West. The full solar cycle is 365 days. This is divided into mini cycles of months and days (24 hours). So, we are told.

Please consider these cycles which affect about half of all people on this planet, especially in urban environments in advanced economies. Most adults in these work environments:

- Work during the day and sleep late at night and during the early mornings;
- Work for an employer on workdays – i.e., Monday to Friday only;
- Work for less than half of a solar 24-hour day cycle, i.e., less than 12 hours;
- Do not work on December 25th or January 1st in America, Canada and other countries.

Many people who talk about fighting the timetable-driven matrix speak about 'working for themselves', 'working from home' and working 'flexible hours'. 'Telecommuting' is a word that has mainstreamed after 2000. This sounds ace in theory. In practice, this author has found, from extensive observations, that work from home roles pay less than half than the payrate of identical roles that require people to travel to work. In other words, workers expect significant compensation for ongoing disciplined acts such as getting up in the morning, ironing work clothes, travelling to work and sharing intimate spaces with people who they barely know.

Do your personal experiences confirm/reject this author's anecdotal observations?*

Are you able to refer to credible research to support your opinion?

* This leading question suggests a binary choice. Please freely offer other responses, if appropriate.

Tingles

What are your biggest non animalistic enemies? Cellulite, gravity and your age increasing birthdays perhaps? How about alarm clocks? An alarm that sits by the bedside, by definition, disrupts your natural sleeping rhythm if it awakens you while you are asleep. This is its core purpose. Some detractors of alarm clock claim that using one interrupts your natural sleep cycle.

The thrust of this article below is self-explanatory from its header and opening.

True or False: Can an Alarm Clock Affect Your Health?

abcnews.go.com/GMA/true-false-alarm-clock-affect-health/story?id=14730219

Oct. 18, 2011 — -- True, natural light is better to wake up to than an alarm clock.

According to Research by the National Institute of Industrial Health in Japan, despite the popularity of using an alarm clock, waking up to a jolting noise can be bad for your heart. Waking up abruptly can cause higher blood pressure and heart rate. Besides increasing your blood pressure, an alarm can add to your stress levels by getting your adrenaline rushing.

Notice how this paragraph opens with the words 'according to'. Indeed. From just a few minutes of online research, I located several scientific studies that argue the inverse. Those with an open-mind, who read widely, may concur that there are masses of high-level university research projects that offer inverse and other competing opinions on this same topic. High carbs and low protein diets cause obesity? Or does it cause malnourishment? Who really knows? Whatever.

Have you met a person who claims they have an alarm clock inside their mind, i.e., they can wake up at the exact desired time, give or take a minute or so?

Do these words offer you any tips about how you can master time constraints to your advantage?

Tomorrows

This book's core goal aims to explore the ways in which We the People can avoid remaining or becoming prisoners of our minds. Most minor annoyances and deep sufferings are probably self-inflicted. Chronic gambling addiction may be an example. Many people become hooked to gaming knowing that their chances of beating a casino are about 30% or so per dice roll.

This first attempt draft doesn't profess to provide answers. It probably raises more questions than solutions. This book strives to constantly remind people to freely inform their own opinions. You are your own sovereign. Please trust your raw instincts. Viewpoints of this author are nothing more than a way to start a conversation – for those who may be interested to go there.

If this author was to reiterate one theme, it would be the danger of mandatory uniformity. Compulsory contextual congruence has its place. It is probably the best way to run a military. There is little time to question the efficacy and ethics of pyramidal orders in the fog of warfare.

Crowned sanctioned cloning is subtle. Some peeps preach that the unholy don't travel to temples on Tuesdays. They are most welcome to their opinions. Once we surrender our souls (if they exist) to copy-and-paste universalism, the slippery slope spews down a bottomless cesspit. Tuesdays become daily. Then thrice daily. Too soon, timetabled hell horns dictate when men must face East and how low we must bow. Try to opt out and get whipped like a cow. Man die.

Travistock

The secretive Travistock Institute is at the forefront of contemporary Psychiatric research. This includes covert projects such as psychological warfare (psy-ops) that support government clients.

The menace of psychiatry
J Brennemann - American Journal of Diseases of Children, 1931 - jamanetwork.com

As shown above, not all physicians support Psychiatry. The vast bulk of Psychiatry requires a clinician to sit in a chair, observe, ask 'patients' commonsense questions and prescribe drugs. A noticeably different modus operandi to complex clinical fields such as neurological microsurgery.

Like virtually all professions, psychiatry, and its subordinate, psychology, have at times been weaponized by the 0.001% who fund think tanks like Travistock and projects such MK Ultra mind-control. A certification of 'insane' by a psychiatrist may nullify a whistleblower's valid testimony.

J Lennane - Social Medicine, 2012 - socialmedicine.info
... previous employer (34%) • demanding or impossible orders (26%) • referral for psychiatric assessment/treatment ... in the former Soviet Union, this included the systematic misuse of psychiatry

In recent decades, psychiatrists have expanded their client base by creating medical conditions that seem to merely attach 'disorder' to a noun or adjective that has long been in the lexicon.

Capgras' syndrome: the delusion of substitution.
SF Signer - The Journal of clinical psychiatry, 1987 - psycnet.apa.org

These generalized opinions above are anecdotal as opposed to methodological. They belong to this author and others. I encourage critical readers to always form their own free-willed opinions.

Do you 'believe' in Psychiatry? Can this field be reconciled with Spiritual Healing and religion?

Political dynasty families and bloodline royals have long used fake computer images and younger, fitter, better speaking, smarter, less wrinkled body doubles to replace iconic leaders who are dead, fatigued, clumsy or in a permanent vegetative state. There are various reasons that may explain this strategy for each encounter. Many political commentators theorize that most British people are not ready for Queen Camilla and King Charles. When was the last time Britain had King and Queen divorcees? If any British person outside of the establishment tried to prove, for example, that 93 years old Queen Elizabeth died in 2015, the British establishment could have this person diagnosed as suffering from Capgras Syndrome or Delusional Misidentification Syndrome. In other words, the social construction of psychiatry farce has this playbook deception covered. This author, and many others, fearlessly comment that many hyper famous political operatives look younger, fitter and different as the years pass. Ms. page 34 as the classic example. Playbook labels such as ‘paranoid’ do not deter people who are free from mind-control matrixes.

SECTION 3. Whenever the President transmits to the President pro tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives his written declaration that he is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office, and until he transmits to them a written declaration to the contrary, such powers and duties shall be discharged by the Vice President as Acting President.

Note that this Section does not talk about psychiatric illnesses, most of which, fall into vague, overlapping subjective categories. This article below is an illustration of how multiple Clinical Psychiatrists, MD, in America have 'diagnosed' President Donald Trump by watching news clips.

newsweek.com/cnn-psychiatrist-diagnose-donald-trump-mental-health-hitler-mao-stalin-brian-stelter-apology-145607

Dr. Allen Frances, author of Twilight of American Sanity, appeared on Brian Stelter's CNN program Sunday to push back against a Yale School of Medicine psychiatry professor and several other mental health professionals who often appear on cable news networks to "diagnose" Trump from afar based on his frequently erratic behavior and public comments. Stelter was later ridiculed on social media for allowing Dr. Frances to claim "Trump is as destructive a person in this century as Hitler, Stalin and Mao were in the last century."
